

MERIDIAN AUDIO PRESENTS BRITISH AUDIO ENGINEERING EXCELLENCE AND LUXURY SECTOR GROWTH AT HIGH END MUNICH 2025

PRESS RELEASE

May 2025

15 May 2025 – Meridian Audio will return to the HIGH END Show in Munich (15–18 May 2025) to showcase its latest premium loudspeakers and proprietary DSP technologies, highlighting the brand's growing presence across luxury sectors and international markets.

Visitors can experience Meridian's acclaimed DSP technology at the Audio Reference booth (Atrium 3.1, Room D111), where the DSP9 loudspeaker in an exclusive 'Ferrari Grigio Medio' finish will be demonstrated. The flagship DSP8000 XE in Volcano red finish and the award-winning Ellipse streaming speaker will also be on display, highlighting Meridian's range of precision-engineered audio solutions.

Additionally, you'll find AV EMEA, Meridian's international sales division, at Hall 2, Ho8, ready to discuss how our expertise can enhance your projects with premium audio experiences across diverse applications. Discover our bespoke Design & Specification Service offering customised solutions for your most challenging projects. We also feature Meridian Select, providing an extensive range of loudspeaker colour options for complete personalisation.

Audio Reference CEO Mansour Mamaghani will host a press conference featuring Meridian on Friday at 12:30. The conference is by appointment only.

Jeremy Brown, International Sales Manager at Meridian Audio, will be available throughout the HIGH END show in Munich to discuss global distribution opportunities across premium home audio and custom installation channels.

"We're pleased to be back at HIGH END with our valued partners Audio Reference," said Brown. "Our focus is on precision-engineered audio that transforms every listening space — from private luxury residences to vehicles and beyond. This event gives us the chance to connect with those who share our passion for exceptional sound."

Beyond Home Audio: The Future of Sound

While Meridian's DSP loudspeakers remain central to its home audio offering, the company continues to lead sound innovation across multiple sectors. Recent partnerships in automotive, private aviation and marine industries demonstrate Meridian's expanding role in creating immersive audio experiences beyond traditional residential applications.

Meridian's proprietary technologies, including Horizon audio processing, Bass and Space optimisation, and advanced digital signal processing, now enhance sound quality in luxury vehicles, private jets and superyachts worldwide. This broader application of Meridian's expertise reflects the company's mission to deliver better sound to more people across diverse environments.
